

Greetings to all,

For those who haven't known, I have been working for the past 6 months at Black Rock Retreat as a maintenance associate. While working at a camp, especially a role that many don't know about or understand, I felt God calling me to combine my media producing skills as well as my camp background to create a video series, labeled Handyman 24. The idea of this project is to travel around to different camps each month or so and record a day in the life of a camp position. These roles can be anywhere from kitchen to office. Like I said before, many people don't understand what goes on at a camp especially during the offseason. Below I am listing my agenda and ways you can help me complete this project!

My Mission: Go to a camp and record a day in the life of a camp role, while also volunteering

My Goal: Complete a 10 episode video project by the end of summer-

How you can help: Obviously there's a lot of prayer needed. Prayer that this series can be a success, shine a light on camp ministry, and show off job opportunities for people to consider. Second way that would help is financially. It will cost about $1,000-$1,500 to do this. That will cover travel expenses, meals, and extra equipment. I would love for you to partner with me as I go on an adventure to create this. If you'd like to find out more info or stay up to date with other ways to help, please go to <https://handyman24.weebly.com/>. Thank you all for reading this and helping to support me!

With Love,

Reece Peifer
